

Eric Pyle and Allison are thankful for the support of all our friends!

Set Apart, Together

In April, Colleyville Presbyterian Church granted us a Certificate of Commissioning to set us both apart for the work of Wycliffe Bible Translators. You can view (click) our missions page here: <http://www.cpcpca.org> -> Missions -> Wycliffe Bible Translators

Allison has begun the application process for joining Wycliffe Bible Translators. The application is very thorough and can take a few months to complete. The forms are due by August 1.

Allison would appreciate your prayers that she will find a position that she would enjoy and that matches her linguistics education to her problem solving and people-oriented skills.

Missional Tentmaking

Allison and I continue to pray for more partners to join us in getting the Bible to people who need it. In the meantime, God has blessed us with some temporary provisions.

Every Monday I continue to work on correspondence with partners and partnership building. In the past couple of months, I have been blessed that a couple families have come to visit me where I work at the Wycliffe International Linguistics Center. Let me know if you would be interested in scheduling a visit.

Allison has been blessed with a number of tutoring and teaching jobs this summer. She is especially happy to be accepted as an adjunct professor at the University of Dallas. Her class is to prepare international students to pass their TOEFL exam. Allison also spends time during the week translating testimonials from Spanish into English for Faith Comes By Hearing, an organization that partners with Wycliffe to produce audio Bibles so people can hear the Bible in their own language, even when they can't yet read it.

I've been blessed with the opportunity to mentor Kyle, a college computer science student. Kyle has special needs to learn how to complete school, work, and life tasks in a reasonable amount of time. He has been assisting me at work and thus learning how to work with others in a job environment. The mentorship is being funded by a government agency in partnership with his parents who are also Wycliffe missionaries. Our hope is that Kyle will be better prepared to live on his own and be successful at work.

Over 400 Bugs Squashed!

Over the past couple of months, we've been eliminating "bugs" so we can release Fieldworks 6.0. Bugs will cripple the use of software for users if they are not fixed before a release. With prayer and wisdom, we've managed to drop the bug count from an intimidating 427 to less than 20. That is remarkable progress considering we only have a handful of programmers addressing these issues.

Please pray we can smash the remaining bugs and implement the few remaining critical features for this release. We are especially eager to finish our free release of Fieldworks Language Explorer 3.0 \(FLEX\). The sooner we can release, the sooner our latest version can start helping Bible translators do a more efficient and accurate job.

Word Morph Contest

Let me introduce you to a game called Word Morph. The puzzle is to connect a word pair by spelling other words that only differ by one letter at a time and all have the same length. For example, one solution for the word pair HEAD and FOOT, would be bead, beat, boat, boot.

Now you try to solve the puzzle for COOL and FLEX. (For extra credit, try JOIN and FLEX.) I will pick the shortest solution and announce it in my next newsletter. Also let me know how much time it took approximately. For more word games like this, visit <http://www.wordplays.com/>
